SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19th.
Herald Publishing Company:
GENTLEMEN:—We ship to the HERALD to-day a font of long primer type, made especially for printing election tickets according to the new requirements of the Code. We have had each individual type carefully and separately examined and passed upon by the Secretary of State and pronounced a new Code Long Primer. None genuine unless the name of DUNRY MALONE is blown in the cork. You can now furnish election tickets without the least error in their production.

We remain, very respectfully, etc.,
READ, BRAND & CO.
Candidates will see to it that they have their tickets printed at the HERALD office and then they will be correct, as we have secured new type and new paper, cut according to the requirements of the new Code.

THE Chronicle explains why the Sacramento Union is for sale. It's all because of the Chronicle.

The Chamber of Commerce, to which the people look for action in the railroad enterprise, has manifested a determination to move at once and decisively. The report of Engineer CRAWFORD will be completed in a short time and will show how easy it is to build the road from this city through the Cajon Pass. The advantages of this road we have already pointed out and the disadvantages under which we shall labor without it are apparent to all. We trust the people will assist the Chamber of Commerce in getting the ball in motion and that we shall keep it rolling until the road is built. We have no time to waste in idle talk. Let us get to work and work diligently until the task is completed.

A Pertinent Question.

EDITOR HERALD: If Mr. Beaudry is guilty of the acts with which the Evening Express now charges him and the proofs of which it claims are on record and have been for years, is not that paper more culpable than Mr. Beaudry in not making the facts known long ago, in place of lauding as a public-spirited and liberal-minded citizen the man it now denounces as everything that is bad.
VOTER.
Los Angeles, Dec. 2, 1874.

The charges of the Express are false in toto, and none are more fully aware of their falseness than the managers of that sheet. The records disprove every charge yet made against Mr. BEAUDRY and prove the authors of those charges wilful and malicious slanderers. Until Mr. BEAUDRY became a candidate for Mayor and the Express accepted the wages of the slanderer, it could hardly find words to express its praise of him.

The Express Writes a Card for Roberts.

We yesterday predicted that the Express would get up a card for the "poor sick man," ROBERTS. Our prediction proved correct. The little traitor of last evening contained the document, and a more weak and shallow affair cannot be found outside the editorial columns of the Express. Mr. ROBERTS innocently says CHAPMAN sold him the lot because he (CHAPMAN) did not want a lawsuit and gave it to Mr. BEAUDRY. The funny part of it is that CHAPMAN should give away a thing he never owned, and afterward sell it. The absurd part of it is that the "poor sick man," ROBERTS, should pay CHAPMAN all the money he had for a thing which CHAPMAN had previously given away. A thinner, sicker, more ludicrous attempt to extort money we have never seen or heard of. Mr. ROBERTS' denial that he threatened Mr. BEAUDRY that if he did not come to his terms he would use his "mighty" influence to defeat his election is of a piece and color with the rest of the card. He did make the threat, and, what is more, he is doing his little best to carry the threat into execution. Mr. ROBERTS went into a large speculation on a small amount of capital, and he will end by proving himself the weak tool with which a mendacious journal sought to blacken the private character of an old and respectable citizen of Los Angeles.

The Maligners of Private Character.

The people of Los Angeles owe it to themselves to place their seal of condemnation on the coarse, slanderous attacks on Mr. BEAUDRY's private character by a sheet which is ready to become the venal tool of any man, party or organization for a compensation. Having exposed the slanders of the Express so often and showed to the community the object of its attacks, we deem it unnecessary to occupy the time of our readers in refuting anything more it may say. We feel like offering an apology to our friends for so frequently bringing this subject before them. But we also feel that the interests of the entire city are at stake, and the reflecting part of the community will excuse us for kicking the misanthrope out of the way. Mr. BEAUDRY is an old citizen of Los Angeles. He has lived here for nearly a quarter of a century and his private character is so well and so favorably known to all old residents that they naturally look with contempt on those who are base enough to invent and repeat day after day charges which all know are false; that their authors know to be so and that they were prompted to create and place them in circulation from the basest and most dishonorable motives. The citizens of Los Angeles are shocked at the libelous attacks made on one of their number, and to show their detestation of the course pursued by those who are opposing Mr. BEAUDRY, hundreds of citizens will vote for him who until his private character was falsely and maliciously assailed, had not thought of doing so. The people owe it to themselves to brand these vile slanderers, and we believe Monday evening will show that they have rebuked them and vindicated the character of their fellow-citizen.

The Issues of the Contest.

We doubt if the efforts of those who are so anxious to deceive the people as to the real issues which enter into the election next Monday, will be successful. There is too much at stake for either side to be greatly deluded. The struggle is between the people and a few individuals who, having amassed great wealth through what they term their exclusive franchises, are determined to leave no effort untried to retain the power through which they have so long levied and collected from the masses an immense annual revenue. There are laws compelling the appointment of a Board of Water Commissioners, whose business it is to both fix the rates for water at a fair price and to see that a good article is furnished. The services of an honest Board of Commissioners would save the people of Los Angeles thousands of dollars per annum in the cost of water and in doctor's bills. It is to prevent the appointment of this Board or secure the appointment of one that will act as they direct, that the advocates of Messrs. SABICH and TIFFANY are now spending money frater than water. It is to secure an enforcement of the law and to obtain the justice which the law guarantees, that the taxpayers are rallying to the support of Mr. BEAUDRY. This is one feature of this contest, and it is an important one. The HERALD has no quarrel with the Water Company, nor is it desirous of depriving that corporation of a single legal privilege it possesses, but we do desire and shall insist that it comply with the law regulating all such corporations in the State. We object, and the objection is sustained by the people, to giving this corporation the unconditional right to close public streets, build flumes over and through private property, occupying and holding city lots and damaging a large amount of individual property with a reservoir constructed for the sole purpose of holding nearly seven acres of city lots for almost a generation. The HERALD does not recognize the justice of these things, and it is the people are true to their own interests and true to themselves—they will on Monday say to this corporation "You have rights and in the maintenance of them we will protect you, but we also have rights and you must not and shall not invade them." This water monopoly assumes the position that it is immaculate; that whatever it does or does not is right, and no man or community shall say it nay. Hence when the HERALD intimates that an improvement might be made in the quality of water our citizens drink, this pure institution gets up a shower of indignation, rushes off and commences suit against the HERALD for $25,000 damages. A part of the contest on Monday is to decide whether this Water Company, that nothing must be said against, or the people, own the city of Los Angeles. Another of the issues to be settled on that day is whether the Water Company has a right to prevent a citizen from conveying water to portions of the city in which it has refused to furnish it. The election of Mr. SABICH or Mr. TIFFANY and the ring's Councilmen will be followed by an attempt to take from Mr. BEAUDRY the privilege granted him by the city to convey water on the high lands and thus depreciate the taxable property of the city many hundreds of thousands of dollars. These are a few of the main features which will present themselves in the struggle on Monday. The people do not wish to deprive the Water Company of a single prerogative, but they should see to it that that corporation does not obtain an exclusive franchise to run the city government as well as to furnish the people with water.

The First Chapter of the Book of Donkeys.

"Take now one of the servants with thee and arise, go and seek the asses."
(1.) And it came to pass that when men began to multiply in the city of Angels, that a treaty was made between the Shamites, the Tweedlemits and the Defamites.
(2.) And they did meet in solemn council in the valley of Gain to consult upon the best means to be employed to bring the people more subservient to their will and more profitable to their interest.
(3.) And it came to pass that after many days that the people did see the drift of the Shamites, the Tweedlemits and the Defamites and they did refuse to obey them, and they began to look for chiefs amongst themselves whom they could trust to rule them with more honesty and equality.
(4.) And it came to pass that when Charles Harris, brother of the girl, attempted to kill De Boest with a shotgun. The gun was within a few feet of De Boest's head, but the caps of both barrels only snapped.
Sailing of Steamers.
SAN FRANCISCO, December 2d.—The United States steamer Narragansett sailed to-day on a cruise.
The steamer China sailed for Hong Kong, with 568 passengers, twenty-eight in the cabin, and $302,822, and 728 tons of freight.

live forever, and let not your hearts be troubled; for I have a scheme by which I can overthrow your enemies and establish your power forever! and they marveled at his great presumption.
(7.) And furthermore he said: "Listen unto me, O ye chiefs, and give ear to my words. Now, you know that we are hard up for argument; therefore, I will blacken the character of the people's candidate by giving him a bad name!" and the chiefs of the Shamites and the Tweedlemits were pleased with his words.
(8.) And it came to pass that the scribe whose name was "Piant Tool," did stand upon the walls of the city from morning till evening, denouncing the people's choice and defaming his character with words which were untrue. But his bodily health was greatly impaired by his constant blowing of the trumpet of the intended chief of the Shamites and Tweedlemits.
(9.) And now, behold, the famous Piant Tool has abandoned business in honest Journalism, and is open for engagements as a hounding scribbler and defamer of character.
(10.) Now the rest of the deeds of the Shamites, the Tweedlemits and the Defamites, will they not be recorded in the chapter of the Book of the Donkeys?

WASHINGTON, November 30th.—The near advent of Congress has called attention to the exceeding shortness of the coming session. If the usual holiday vacation is observed, there will be but sixty working days in the session. It is the intention of the working members who have arrived to have as much work as possible sent to committees before the holidays, in the expectation that the majority of the principal committees will be willing to sit during the recess.

THEY HAVE COME!!!

There are a few bearing orange trees upon the Centinela, and the fruit they produce is of the largest and finest quality. There is an orchard containing 6,000 orange trees three years old, and 1,200 almond, lime and lemon trees. The almond, lime and lemon trees will bear in five years. There are 7,000 three-year-old orange trees in the nursery near the orchard. The entire orchard can be taken care of by three men with six horses. The orchard will be kept undivided by the company to save the expense of each shareholder having a few trees to take care of. Each share will entitle the owner to about 15 trees in the orchard and about the same number in the nursery. The almond, lime and lemon trees will yield an immediate return. In five years each orange tree will produce $20 per annum, or $300 per share for those now planted. There are flowers in the garden in bloom every day in the year.

Soil.

The soil is an exceedingly fertile loam, and is, without exception, the richest and most productive in Southern California. Its vicinity to the ocean insures a crop without irrigation. Excellent wheat has been raised for the last two years upon the hills adjoining the ocean. This wheat field contains 1,500 acres and covers the lightest soil upon the Rancho. There is no alkali or barren land.

Water.

The Centinela creek rises upon the rancho and runs through the northern portion of the tract. It affords an abundance of clear spring water. The source of the Centinela creek is in the foothills of the San Gabriel mountains, showing that artesian water can be obtained by boring.

The Town.

A square mile is laid off at an eligible point on the tract, with lots 20x140; avenue 100 feet and streets 30 feet wide.
A stream of water can be brought in so as to supply every lot with crystal, cool, sweet water.
Provision will be made for a College and Farm School.
A large lot will be set apart for each religious denomination. A block will also be given for the erection of a large hall by the different Fraternal, Grange and Temperance Societies.

Fare.

Parties desiring to visit the land should take steamer from San Francisco to Los Angeles; fare, $12. By inquiring at Temple & Workman's office in Los Angeles, they will be directed to the Rancho.
Apply to

The successors of the late firm are Jacob Johansen, Wm. T. Grosser and Herman Grosser, who will continue the business at the former stand in the new U. S. Hotel building, Requena street. Herberger & Johansen acquired a fine reputation for work in their line while they were conducting their business, and the new firm will no doubt preserve the good name in future.

Dr. Lucky informs us that an exhibition will be given by the scholars of the High and Grammar Schools at Turn-Verein Hall on Thursday evening, Dec. 17th. The object of the entertainment is to procure funds to discharge the indebtedness on the philosophical and chemical apparatus now in use in the High School. About $500 worth of this apparatus has been purchased altogether, the last installment arriving yesterday from Boston. Upon this there is an indebtedness of $100, which will no doubt be entirely paid if the project meets with the success it merits. The exhibition will be a very interesting entertainment, as many of the scholars participating have decided ability and energy sufficient to make a success of anything they undertake. As an additional merit of the affair, we are assured it will be brief—something uncommon for such entertainments.

Mass Meeting.
By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that a mass meeting of the citizens of Los Angeles and San Bernardino counties has been called by our Chamber of Commerce, to take place at the Court-house here on Saturday, December 12th. The object of the meeting is to consider the best means of aiding the construction of the Los Angeles and Independence Railroad. Prominent citizens will address the meeting, and Mr. Crawford, the County Engineer, will be present with the maps showing the proposed route, and other information bearing upon this important undertaking. We are glad to see that this project has been taken hold of in earnest and that the best means will be brought to some definite conclusion. The question is one of vital importance to Los Angeles and San Bernardino, as every thinking man must know, and it cannot receive too warm a support from those whose interests are involved in the development of our portion of Southern California. Let there be a rousing response to the call, and a meeting that means business.

IN SCHOOL DAYS.
Still sits the school house by the road,
A rugged beggar sunning
Around it with the autumnal glow,
And blackberry vines are running.
Within, the master's desk is seen,
The doer's work, the doer's pen,
The warping floor, the battered seats,
The jack-knife's carved initial.
The charcoal freckles on its wall;
The doer's work, the doer's pen,
The feet that, creeping slow to school,
Went storming out to play!
Long years ago a winter's sun
Shone over it at setting;
It up its western window panes
And low eaves' icy fretting.
It touched the tangled golden curls
Of one who still her steps delayed
When all the school were leaving.
For near her stood the little boy
His cap was pulled low on his face,
His eyes were cast down, and he was musing.
Pushing with restless feet the snow
To right and left he lingered.
As restlessly her tiny hands
The blue checked topiary fingered.
He saw her lift her eyes; he felt
The soft hands light caressing—
He heard the trembling of her voice,
As if a faint confession.
"I'm sorry that I spent the week;
I hate to go above you;
Remember the brown eyes faded fall—
Because, you see, I love you."
Still memory to a gray-haired man
That sweet child face is showing.
Deep in the night on her cheek
Have forty years been growing!
He lives to learn, in life's hard school,
How few who pass above him
Lament the triumph and his loss
Like her—because they love him.

Panama News.
We received yesterday from our old time friend Ludlow who is now in business at Panama, a copy of the newspaper published there. It is called the Panama News and is a very creditable little sheet in its contents and appearance. It is published tri-weekly by the Panama Publishing Company, with T. S. Harris Manager, and D. P. Carr in the editorial chair. Speaking of the difficulties attending the establishment of the News, the editor says:
The metropolitan journalist would be dismayed by the obstacles encountered by the pioneer printer in the establishment of a newspaper in a new mining camp such as Panama. Ten days since Mr. T. S. Harris, representing the Panama Publishing Company, arrived in this place, bringing with him a press and type for this paper, and canvas for a tent. At that time no shelter could be had in the town, and for a week they were conducting their business, and the new firm will no doubt preserve the good name in future.

From the advertisements which appear in the News, it seems that Panama is already well supplied with business houses, lawyers, doctors, barbers, shoemakers, etc. The cost of living is thus commented upon:
Meals can be had at seventy-five cents at one restaurant, and one dollar at others. The Surprise Valley Company charge eight dollars a week for board, and reference to our market reports will convince any one that men can live here as cheaply as in any new mining camp in the history of the coast. There are not any lodging houses and blankets and mattresses are in demand. This want will be supplied by the new firm, as several parties propose establishing lodging houses.

The town and mines of the new district are described as follows:
Upon either side of a narrow cañon on the western slope of the Panamint range of mountains, about ten miles south from Telescope Peak (the highest point in the range), are situated the mines, the discovery and working of which has caused a town to be laid out and rapidly built up in this cañon. Ten or twelve miles to the eastward, across the range, lies Death Valley, lying between the Argus, or Tortoise range, and the Panamint mountains.
The first discoveries were made by those of the Stewart Wonder and Jacobs' wonder, located in April, 1873. The latter are each of these claims crops out boldly above the surrounding formations and each are cut by ravines to a great depth, showing a most wonderful surface prospect. Many prospectors have clamored over the rocky precipices, each day discovering other ledges, until there are now over six hundred locations in the district, many of which are developing into valuable and extensive mines. The formation is mainly limestone, though the ledges are entirely different from that of White Pine and other places where deposits of limestone have been made. The ores are mainly copper, silver, and lead, and are traceable upon the surface for such a distance that there is but little reason to doubt the permanency of the mines in that formation. feed-yards, etc., and excavations are being made for mills, ore-breakers and other buildings. The time is not far distant when the whole space between the main town and the company's works will be built upon and one continuous town will extend far down the cañon.

EDUCATIONAL COLUMN.
[Edited by the Teachers of the Public Schools of Los Angeles county.]

Monthly Reports.

The parents of the pupils in the advance grades of the city schools and in at least two of the county schools—Alameda and Gallatin—now receive monthly reports of the scholarship, attendance and deportment of their children. The preparation of these reports imposes considerable extra labor upon the teachers. To compensate those who are willing to perform this extra work and to make the reports profitable to the pupils, parents should carefully examine them and compare the reports of each month with those of preceding months. They will, perhaps, be surprised to learn that their children have been absent so many days, or tardy so many times. This knowledge may lead them to be more careful about detaining children at home for trifling reasons or lead to the discovery that the child has been deceiving both parents and teachers.

Look at your children's standing in deportment, and in keeping their reports, inquire into the cause. The very fact that you manifest some interest in the subject may be the means of your child's improvement. The low standing in his different studies may convince the parents that more attention must be given to text-books out of school-rooms and less time devoted to amusement or to light reading.

A standing of 75 per cent, or less, shows that the pupil is only moderately successful; while 50 per cent, shows that he is progressing very slowly, with no prospect of promotion at the end of the year. A report that is very unsatisfactory ought always to secure a visit to the teacher in order to learn particulars that cannot be given on the card. With the earnest assistance of the parents, these monthly reports will become effective instruments for securing a more regular attendance, higher standard of scholarship and better deportment.

Duty of Parents.

"There is more for the mother to do than to see that her child goes off to school in the morning; more for the father to do than simply pay his school tax. Teaching is not to be left altogether to the teacher; parents must help. This they can do at home, by taking an interest in the lessons to be learned, and they can accomplish further good by visiting the school. The teacher is but the assistant of the parent, and it must be seen that both are working in the same direction. The father may not find time to do much, but the mother can. She may have forgotten her French or arithmetic, but she can tell if her children are surrounded by good influences, if they are taught conscientiously and superficially. The teacher, too, is encouraged to know that the parents co-operate, and the pupils are proud to show the progress made since the last visit."

Prof. Sickel.
In the first number of the Dixon Tribune, we find the following flattering notice of a former teacher in Los Angeles. His many friends here will be gratified to hear of his continued success.

"As a school, it is all that can be desired. Prof. M. T. Sickel is a competent, thorough and conscientious teacher."
Visitors.
Last week Prof. S. Sherman, of New York, spent two days in our city schools, with the exercises of which he seems to be well pleased. He left for Prescott, Arizona, having been invited by Gov. Safford to open a school of high grade in that place. Prof. Sherman promised to send occasional communications for the Educational Column.

On Monday, Mr. Cornwall, ex-County Superintendent of Kern county, visited the schools in this county, and he is delighted with our climate, and with the certain indications of our future growth.

Sewing.
The experiment of teaching sewing in the Boston public school generally, is to be tried. Since last December sewing has been taught to 1,200 in the Winthrop school, and with great success.
I like to see in a youth some of the good qualities of old age, and some of the good qualities of youth in an old man.—Cicero.
The real orphan is not he who lost his father, but he whose father gave him no education.

SECTION 35. Every person who, by force, threats, menace, bribery, or any corrupt means, either directly or indirectly, attempts to influence any elector in giving his vote, or to deter him from giving the same, or attempts by any means whatever to awe, restrain, hinder, or disturb any elector in the free exercise of his right of suffrage, or furnishes any elector wishing to vote, who cannot read, with a ticket, informing or giving such elector to understand that it contains his name written or printed thereon different from the name which is written or printed thereon, or defrauds any elector at any such election, by deceiving and causing such elector to vote for a different person than he intended or desired to vote for, or who, being Inspector, Judge of any election, or acting as such, induces, or attempts to induce, any elector, either by menace or reward, or promise of reward, or by any other means, to vote for a different person than he intended or desired to vote, is guilty of a misdemeanor.
